

Miss Scoville To Be Married To Dr. Barrows

Ceremony to Take Place in North Andover, Mass., on Oct. 9, with Reception Later at Bride's Home

Will Live in This City

Many Other Weddings in Society To Be Solemnized Within a Few Weeks

Mrs. John H. Scoville has issued invitations for the wedding of her daughter, Miss Frances L. Scoville, to Dr. David N. Barrows, son of Mr. Charles Clifford Barrows, of 63 East Fifty-sixth Street, October 9, in the Episcopal church, North Andover, Mass. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the home of Mrs. Scoville, 111 North Andover, Mass. Miss Deborah Barrows will be Miss Scoville's maid of honor, and the other attendants will be Miss Beatrice Post, Miss Alice Allen, Miss Caroline Stevens and Miss Harriet Kunhardt.

Dr. Arthur D. Osborne will be Dr. Barrows' best man, and the ushers will be Dr. Harold A. Content, Dr. Warren F. Wadsworth, Dr. George Henry Holladay and Dr. Charles H. Nammach. Dr. Barrows and his bride, after their wedding trip, will live at 145 East Thirty-third Street.

Miss Adelaide Sedgwick, daughter of Mrs. Harry Sedgwick, will become the bride of John Munroe, September 25, at Riverside, the country place of the bride. Miss Munroe is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Munroe, of 124 East N. Y. Miss Mary Steers is to be the bride's maid of honor, and the other attendants will be Miss George Henry Warren Jr., Mrs. Francis B. Bradley, Mrs. Charles Reed, Miss Adrienne Iles, Miss M. Symphorosa Bristed, Miss Marion Carey Dinsmore and Miss Mary F. Fanning. The wedding will be at the home of Mrs. Steers, of Philadelphia.

Henry Munroe will be best man, and the ushers will include L. H. Paul, Charles F. Wadsworth, Dr. George Henry Holladay, Dr. Charles H. Nammach, Dr. George M. Rushmore, of this city; Richard C. Everts and Charles Weston, of Boston, and Frederick W. Hubbell, of Des Moines, Iowa.

The marriage of Miss Barbara Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell, of 230 West 23d St., to Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Russell, of 124 East Seventy-second Street, will take place Saturday in the Unitarian Church, Plymouth.

Captain and Mrs. William R. Sayles have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mrs. Ernest A. Bigelow, to Mr. Herman Livingston Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Rogers, of Hyde Park, N. Y. Mrs. Bigelow was Miss Katherine Moore, daughter of Mrs. Sayles by her first husband, Henry H. Moore. Mr. Bigelow died in May 1911. Mrs. Bigelow was a member of the Colony Club, and served as a nurse with the French army for two years. Mr. Rogers is a graduate of Yale, class of '14, and served overseas as a major in the 308th Field Artillery. He is a member of the Knickerbocker, Racquet and Tennis and other clubs.

Miss Dorothy Maitland Lee-Griggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maitland F. Griggs, will become the bride of Francis R. Murray, Saturday, at the Church of St. Barnabas, Irvington. Miss Murray is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray, of 110 West 11th St. Mr. Murray is a member of the Knickerbocker, Racquet and Tennis and other clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pinckard will return to England to-morrow on board the Adriatic, after spending a year in this country. Mr. Pinckard was for eight years master of the ship, and during the year supervised the remount depot of 400 acres, which he gave as a gift to the nation.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Lawrence have closed their camp at Big Wolf Lake, in the Adirondacks, and have returned to their home in Lawrence Park, Bronxville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Mitchell Hall have gone to Hot Springs to spend the rest of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Mellen, who were married last week, are touring the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Main Post Jr. have returned to the city from Newport, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Goodby Low.

General Enoch H. Crowder has arrived in the city from Washington and is at the Hotel Astor.

Will Be a Late September Bride

Miss Cleo Robertson

She is to become the bride of William Kent Dupre Jr., on September 25 in the chapel of St. Thomas's Church. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allan Robertson, of this city.

their country place at Highland Falls, N. Y. They will sail for France to-morrow on board the Adriatic. Miss Tracy will work for the American Committee for Devastated France during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Stillman and their daughters, Miss Lisa, Miss Mildred and Miss Ruth Stillman, will return to the city from Southampton, L. I., to-morrow.

Mrs. Henry C. Frick, who came on from her country place at Prides Crossing last week to meet her daughter, Miss Helen C. Frick, who spent several months in Europe, returned to her country place yesterday with her daughter. While in town they were at the Hotel St. Regis.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pinckard will return to England to-morrow on board the Adriatic, after spending a year in this country. Mr. Pinckard was for eight years master of the ship, and during the year supervised the remount depot of 400 acres, which he gave as a gift to the nation.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Lawrence have closed their camp at Big Wolf Lake, in the Adirondacks, and have returned to their home in Lawrence Park, Bronxville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Mitchell Hall have gone to Hot Springs to spend the rest of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Mellen, who were married last week, are touring the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Main Post Jr. have returned to the city from Newport, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Goodby Low.

General Enoch H. Crowder has arrived in the city from Washington and is at the Hotel Astor.

Zionist Movement Opposed in Sermon By Rabbi Schulman

Duty of American Jews to Uphold U. S., He Says in New Year Address; Others Against His View

Problems of Jewish life from national and international viewpoints were discussed yesterday in all Jewish synagogues and improvised prayer houses on the first day of the celebration of Rosh-ha-shanah, the Jewish new year.

"The Eternal Values of Life" was the subject of the morning sermon delivered by Rabbi Samuel Schulman, at Temple Beth-El, Fifth Avenue and Seventy-sixth Street.

The speaker deplored "the heritage of the Great War," which, he said, expressed itself "in a denial of an all-ruling Providence."

"At no great crisis in history has the belief in God been so weak as it is today," he said.

"The Jewish problem has not been solved, because the overwhelming majority of Jews are scattered in the world. They can not, they will not and they ought not to look for their establishment as a nation in Palestine."

Rabbi Schulman argued that the duty of the American Jew was not that indicated by Zionism, but that the Jews residing in this country, while at all times helping their brethren in other lands, must concentrate their attention upon the welfare and future of the United States.

The contrary opinion, as far as the problem of a Jewish homeland in Palestine is concerned, was expressed in his sermon by Rabbi Maurice H. Harris, in the Temple Israel. He declared that the fact that the Jewish new year has revealed to the Jews of the world the prospect of coming into their own land and asserted that a new era, a new ideal and a new hope lie before the descendants of the Hebrew patriarchs.

Rabbi Herbert S. Goldstein, preaching his new year sermon at the Institutional Synagogue, 110th Street and St. Nicholas Avenue, said in part:

"Nothing short of a religious revival can bring well-being into the world. We have become too self-dependent. There would be no Jewish revival if real religion permeated our hearts. The laborer has been taught to spurn the idea of God because the employer, who represented the church, refused to give him a square meal. The idea of mastery between brothers must not exist."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, in his address before the Free Synagogue at Carnegie Hall yesterday morning, called on Christians to correct the false impression that the so-called "Jewish peril" has created a world-wide unrest. He bitterly arraigned those who had led the cry of "Jewish peril." The city, he declared, was "Jewish peril" by every group in Europe which desired the restoration of the pre-war order. Militarist Germany and Czarist Russia, he said, were the real danger to the world.

"It is a brazen attempt to find some scapegoat," he declared. "It is a brazen attempt to find an excuse for a return to the order that was."

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

Jewish Salvation Army Movement Launched Here

"Seventy Elders" and Many Prominent Rabbis to Support National Organization

The American Jewish Seventy Elders and many prominent rabbis have begun a movement for the organization of a Jewish Salvation Army. The organization is to be national and to be patterned in every detail after the Christian Salvation Army.

President Jacques Pollatschek of the American Jewish Seventy Elders said: "There are too many distressing, irreligious agencies active today which are making atheists of the rising Jewish generation that some organization must be formed to counteract this effect. A man's religion is his staff. Take this from him and he has nothing with which to fight the evil influences which are present and ready to pounce upon the weak. The great need is the Christian Salvation Army has done during the last six years has led us to believe that a like organization could do much good for the Jewish citizen of tomorrow."

A meeting was held in the Cooper Union Free Synagogue last night, at which the plans for the new organization were announced. Rabbi Browne spoke.

The Jewish problem has not been solved, because the overwhelming majority of Jews are scattered in the world. They can not, they will not and they ought not to look for their establishment as a nation in Palestine."

Rabbi Schulman argued that the duty of the American Jew was not that indicated by Zionism, but that the Jews residing in this country, while at all times helping their brethren in other lands, must concentrate their attention upon the welfare and future of the United States.

The contrary opinion, as far as the problem of a Jewish homeland in Palestine is concerned, was expressed in his sermon by Rabbi Maurice H. Harris, in the Temple Israel. He declared that the fact that the Jewish new year has revealed to the Jews of the world the prospect of coming into their own land and asserted that a new era, a new ideal and a new hope lie before the descendants of the Hebrew patriarchs.

Rabbi Herbert S. Goldstein, preaching his new year sermon at the Institutional Synagogue, 110th Street and St. Nicholas Avenue, said in part:

"Nothing short of a religious revival can bring well-being into the world. We have become too self-dependent. There would be no Jewish revival if real religion permeated our hearts. The laborer has been taught to spurn the idea of God because the employer, who represented the church, refused to give him a square meal. The idea of mastery between brothers must not exist."

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, in his address before the Free Synagogue at Carnegie Hall yesterday morning, called on Christians to correct the false impression that the so-called "Jewish peril" has created a world-wide unrest. He bitterly arraigned those who had led the cry of "Jewish peril." The city, he declared, was "Jewish peril" by every group in Europe which desired the restoration of the pre-war order. Militarist Germany and Czarist Russia, he said, were the real danger to the world.

"It is a brazen attempt to find some scapegoat," he declared. "It is a brazen attempt to find an excuse for a return to the order that was."

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

General Fayolle expects to embark from Brest next Wednesday on the transport Antioque.

The personality of the French representative, outside of his military duties, is said to be sympathetic and modest even to the point of timidity. One of his friends described him as having more the bearing of a village priest than a grizzled war veteran.

G. A. Kessler, Noted Champagne Agent, Is Dead in Paris

Became Prominent 30 Years Ago as Result of His Sensational Success as Wine Co.'s Representative

Word was received in this city last night of the death at his home in Paris yesterday of George A. Kessler, "millionaire wine agent," whose activities as such were known the world over.

Mr. Kessler had been suffering from a disease of the liver for seven months and had been confined to his home in the Bois de Boulogne several weeks. The arrangements have not been completed.

Little is known of Mr. Kessler's life prior to his appearance in New York about thirty years ago, when he came to this country to promote the champagne made by Moet & Chandon of France. It was a difficult mission, for the people with whom he had to deal had been accustomed for years to other wines. But Mr. Kessler by his ability soon made his name known all over the world. He did not sell whatever his business was the introduction of the champagne, and it is said that the exportation of this wine to the United States was worth more than $700,000 a year. He made a profit of between $100,000 and $250,000 a year, the latter amount having been paid him just before the outbreak of the European war.

Mr. Kessler was a philanthropist. Before the war he devoted much of his time and money to the furtherance of the arts and the promotion of science, and when the war started he turned his attention to relief and hospital work. The first thing he did was to turn over to the French government his home in Paris, which he had bought for $1,000,000. He organized the "Permanent Blind Relief Fund for Soldiers and Sailors of the Allies" and contributed largely to its support.

Mr. Kessler was on board the steamship Lusitania when she was sunk in 1915, and after his rescue gave vivid descriptions of the torpedoing of the vessel by a submarine.

He married, in 1907, Mrs. Cora Parsons Tyler, divorced wife of George Tyler, the theatrical producer.

Shelton Hale Dies After Illness of Five Months

End Comes to Lawyer and Former War Board Official in Vermont

Shelton Hale, a lawyer of this city, formerly assistant secretary of the United States War Trade Board, and prior to that time secretary to Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, died at his home in Shelton, Vt., on Sunday, after an illness of five months. He had been taken to Windsor recently from the Presbyterian Hospital here, where he had undergone an operation for a brain lesion.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Mr. Hale's home in Shelton, Vt., was at 36 West Twelfth Street. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Susan Everts, granddaughter of the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, and a sister, Mrs. Heywood Brown, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home in Windsor to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. Hale was born in Tennessee, and was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Law School. He was a member of the New York Bar and the Boston Bar until 1918. During the peace conference he was in Paris as secretary to Vance C. McClure, chief of the American delegation to the Council. When he returned to New York he became associated with the law firm of Chadbourne, Hunt & Jackson, with offices at 165 Broadway.

Baron Murray of Elibank Dies in London, Aged 50

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Baron Murray, of Elibank, died suddenly to-day at his country home, Walkburn, Scotland.

Alexander William, Charles Oliphant Murray, first Baron Murray, of Elibank, was born in 1870, the eldest son of the first Viscount Elibank. He was a director in the firm of S. Pearson & Son, and in that capacity is said to have obtained valuable oil concessions several years ago in South America.

When Baron Murray was chief Liberal Whip in the House of Commons he became involved in a controversy because of his use of the Liberal party's funds to purchase American Marconi shares. An inquiry by the House of Lords returned a finding that